Agent earns Superior Service Award

Known for her perseverance in providing the best services for every client, multimillion-dollar producer Ferie Bailey has been awarded First Team Real Estate's annual Hall of Fame Award again.

This year's gala was especially significant, as Ferie was honored with the company's coveted Superior Service Award as a result of her impressive roster of repeat, satisfied clientele.

Bailey's philosophy is to keep clients for life while providing them with uncommon service. She strives to tailor each real-estate transaction to meet the specific needs of every client.

Bailey's clients appreciate her ability to listen to their needs in helping them find the home of their dreams.

"My goal is to serve my clients for life and build a relationship based on my commitment to excellence, integrity and honesty, consulting them on all their real-estate investments of any kind," Bailey said.

Before finding her true calling as a successful real-estate agent, Bailey was an executive in a well-known oil company, where she mastered the art of negotiation.

In addition, as an artist experienced in classical oil painting, she gained the virtue of patience and learned the importance of having an eye for fine details.

Her vast knowledge of real-estate law and market fluctuations, and key negotiation skills prove to be an asset for clients seeking homes throughout Orange County.

Bailey welcomes all types of clients, from first-time buyers to seekers of grand estate homes.
